

HRIS Step-by-Step Guide

This PDF walks through the main HRIS workflows using screenshots captured from the running Docker application.

Step 1: Open the HRIS sign-in page

Start at the login page. Enter your HRIS username and password, then click Sign in to open the platform.

Step 2: Review the dashboard command center

The dashboard summarizes employee activity, pending tasks, leave SLA, company updates, and quick actions so HR can work from one place.

Step 3: Open the employee directory

Use Employees to review the master list, open employee records, and manage HR profile data from one organized table.

Step 4: Monitor attendance records

Attendance shows processed daily logs for review. HR can spot missing records, late arrivals, and incomplete time-ins or time-outs.

Step 5: Manage leave requests

The leave workspace tracks balances and requests so managers and HR can review, approve, or reject submissions with full context.

Approvals, and granted leave balances in one place.

Step 6: Analyze HR reports

Reports combines employee, attendance, leave, and payroll summaries. Filters at the top help narrow the data before exporting or reviewing trends.

Step 7: Manage user accounts

User Access is where admins create accounts, reset passwords, toggle active status, and open per-user menu assignment controls.

Step 8: Review governance and approval queues

Access Governance centralizes access templates, menu requests, profile update approvals, dormant access checks, and audit history.

Step 9: Check the notification center

Notifications collect leave alerts, access reviews, payroll events, and profile update decisions so actions are easy to track.

Step 10: Employee view of attendance logs

Employees can open My Attendance to review their own time-in and time-out history without seeing other staff records.

Screen captured from: <http://127.0.0.1:5000/attendance/my-logs>

Step 11: Employee leave request form

Employees can file leave requests by choosing a leave type, date range, and reason. The request then enters the approval flow.

Leave Request

Employees and admins can still file leave even without enough credits. If a request will be recorded as unpaid leave.
